The Urban Investment Network

The Urban Investment Network facilitates a continuous dialogue between public and private sector leaders who are seeking to improve their ability to collaborate and help close the investment gap in Europe's cities.

The 2011 Urban Investment Network Summit

An opportunity to connect with leading European cities, developers and investors. Offering knowledge exchange at the highest level, the interactive two-day event gathers 150-200 public and private sector leaders to debate topical issues at the heart of successful development and competitive cities in 2011.

Programme highlights include:

- Public-private partnerships in an age of austerity – building effective collaboration
- The municipal debt crisis: bad for cities, bad for business?
- Value capture finance across Europe: what effect on the market?
- The business case for sustainability
- 'Europe 2020' - Will the EIB revive the European project bond market?
- Developers and citizens: building better cities together
